Dear Class of 2009:

As president of the Sport and Entertainment Law Society, I would like to welcome you to the University of South Carolina School of Law. The Sports and Entertainment Law Society is an up and coming organization. Our mission is to provide students with the opportunity with current professionals in the sports and entertainment business. It is our hope that once you develop these contacts, you will have a "foot in" when you attempt to break into the industry.

This year is going to be very exciting for our organization. We are hoping to expand the organization not only with new members but also with new events and speakers. And as an organization we are very happy to welcome Joe McCulloch, professor of Sport Law and Entertainment Law at USC Law and a practicing attorney here in Columbia, as our new advisor.

Our biggest event as an organization is to attend the International Conference on Sports and Entertainment Business, which is held annually and sponsored by USC's undergraduate Sport and Entertainment Management Department. Of most importance to law students is the Continuing Legal Education (CLE) seminar that features presentations by some of the foremost professionals in the sports and entertainment business. Past CLE presenters include Anthony "Tony" Agnone, Esquire, Principal of Eastern Athletics in Baltimore, Maryland, Mike Tannenbaum, Esquire, Senior VP of Football Operations and Assistant General Manager of the New York Jets, Marlynn R. Jones, Assistant Athletic Director for NCAA Compliance here at USC and Joseph Nahra, Staff Counsel of the National Football League Players Association. The event is held each November and I will let you know the exact dates at a later time.

I look forward to seeing all of you at orientation in August. In the meantime, please do not hesitate to contact me if you have any questions about our organization or law school in general. Once again, welcome to USC Law.

Very truly yours,
Katie Owens
